

SATURDAY, May 9, 1898.

Secret Societies.

There has been recently inaugurated, especially in the west, a movement against secret societies that seems to be assuming no inconsiderable proportions. Several very able and influential clergymen, mostly of the Congregational Church, have entered into the work of exposing and putting down masonry, Odd Fellowship and all kindred organizations. The so-called Wesleyan Methodists, a small body of Christians that succeeded from the Methodist Episcopal Church a few years since, have made membership in these societies a bar to their communion table, and have entered on the work of extermination with a hearty good will. We have been quite amused, in reading some liberal articles on this subject, at the strange misconception of the writers and the fallacious errors into which they have fallen.

Masons and others attacked will, of course pay but little attention to these philippics. They have a long record to such things and are not easily discouraged by the appearance of opposition. Perhaps no organization has ever met so much opposition as the Masons or furnished more upon it. The order is doubtless indebted to its enemies more than to its friends for its present unparalleled success. One thing is certain; it has never failed to prosper when the most persistent efforts have been made for its extinction.

But the question arises: Is there any real objection to such societies and are they actually an injury to the community? We do not speak now of political societies, or organizations to shape public events, but simply of social or fraternal combinations, the members of which choose to have their meetings by themselves, and are therefore known as secret societies. It is often charged that the oaths administered obliges the members to defend and protect one another, right or wrong, and that therefore they are dangerous to the peace and welfare of the community. But one does not need to be a member to know better than this. Andrew Johnson is a Mason of high degree and so is Ben Butler, and yet Mr. Butler is not trying very much to enable his brother Johnson to gain an acquittal at the bar of the Senate. And this one case is illustrative of the whole subject.

We have not one word in this connection to say in defense of any of these societies. They would not thank us for any work of that kind which we might attempt. However those of us who are outsiders may feel they are conscious of their strength and will not probably, under the arena as contestants. The western clergymen will have the battle all to themselves, and the result will show that the Masons, Odd Fellows, Sons of Temperance, Good Templars and others like them, are in no wise seriously affected. In the language of a popular writer, "The harmlessness or the danger of such organizations lies chiefly in the character of their members. Say what we may, the tendency of men to unite for protection or for congenial association, will have its way. Secret societies have always existed and doubtless will exist to all time."

Governor Bullock and the License Issue.

The remarkable message of Governor Bullock concerning the license law of Massachusetts of which he officially disapproved but which he had not the courage to veto, has given rise to a considerable discussion. His cause was considered so extraordinary that the matter was referred to a committee in the House of Representatives and they have just made a lengthy report. It reviews the action of the Governor in attempting to place the entire responsibility of the law on the Legislature, and in this connection the Committee say they are constrained to report to the house that, in their unanimous opinion, the course taken by His Excellency with reference to this bill has no warrant of the Constitution and operates as a very serious injury to the rights of the people and to the Legislature, and to the authority and dignity of the laws. The committee then discuss the legal nature of the message, and close their report in the following words: "As the message is directed to the House only and suggests an legislation and communicates no facts for the use of the entire Legislature, we do not think it necessary or proper to communicate it to the Senate or to seek any joint action upon it. The responsibility for its disposal lies with the House. We have not thought fit, in this report, to enter into any discussion of the soundness of the objections made by His Excellency to the Statute. As he has, by his course, deprived the House of the opportunity of reconsidering the bill in the light of his objections, we do not see that there is any mode in which the House can profitably or properly employ itself in a consideration of their merits. With the views we entertain of the injurious and unwarranted course taken by the Governor with this act, of which course this message is a part, and unable to see any reason, founded in law or sound policy, why this message should have been addressed to this House, and feeling that a decisive step on our part is necessary to prevent the course taken by His Excellency in this instance from passing into a precedent in some future case of conflicting opinions, we take the responsibility of advising the House to return the message to His Excellency, with a respectful statement of reasons for so doing." The report was laid on the table and 5090 extra copies were ordered to be printed.

James M. Grant of Dighton, recently obtained a divorce from his wife Julia. The next day Mrs. Grant informed the public through the columns of the paper that the office was the first she had heard of the matter. On Saturday last, Mrs. Grant received information from England that a deceased relative had left her the sum of $100,000. Very likely Mr. Grant wishes his wife had never heard of that divorce.

Methodist Episcopal General Conference.

CINCINNATI, May 7.

In the Methodist Episcopal Conference the quadrennial report of the General Missionary Committee shows aggregate contributions of $2,611,433.69. This amount was appropriated as follows: Liberia, $58,455; South America, $798,939; China, $81,728,24; India, $218,891,86; Bulgaria, $282,133; Mexico and Central America, $10,000; foreign population in the United States, $229,626; Indian Missions, $18,000; American Domestic Missions, $1,182,200; Missions, third class, including Missions in the Southern Territory, $123,616 17; miscellaneous, $292,221 87.

The order of the day was then taken up, being the report of the special committee on the reception of Southern delegates.

Dr. Curry paid an earnest tribute to the lenient and merciful of the brothers who stand knocking for admission into this body. He was interrupted by A. W. Reed and E. O. Haven of the committee, who insisted that nothing had been agreed upon in the committee except the items reported yesterday, and that their views of the relations of these mission bodies differed materially from those of the speaker.

At the close of the Dr's speech the hour of adjournment having arrived the subject was laid on the table and made the special order for to-morrow.

When Murder is Lawful.
Gen. Cole has been virtually acquitted of the murder of Hisecock by the disagreement of the jury. "The division was equal, and so substantial as to seem premeditated," the N. Y. Times says.

If the killing of Hisecock was not murder, it is impossible to conceive of any killing that would constitute murder. Cole had bought a pistol and travelled hundreds of miles for the purpose of killing him. He walked into the room where Hisecock was standing, and without saying a word, or giving him a chance even to see his assailant, shot him through the head. That was the act.

It is excused—justified by the finding of the jury on the assumption that Hisecock had been criminally intimate with Cole's wife. "Assuming this to be true, the jury is of opinion that it justifies murder." The law does not say so—it says nothing of the kind. But the jury sit aside the law, and decide the case according to their own pleasure.

But the allegation was not proved. There was no evidence whatever to sustain it. A letter of confession was brought forward, but it was not proved even to have been written by the woman concerned, to say nothing of the truth or falsehood of its contents. The act by which the murder is excused rests solely on the assertion of Cole. He said that was the reason why he shot Hisecock; beyond that statement there was no proof, or even valid presumption, of its truth. If a man may be acquitted of murder, on his own statement of its motive, without further proof of any kind, laws against murder and trials for committing it would seem to be superfluous.

The Early Life of Senator Henry Wilson.
A correspondent of the Boston Journal writes from Farmington, New Hampshire: "Your article upon Henry Wilson's anti-slavery record suggested to me the thought of sending to you the following copy of a bill signed by him, which I found last year among some loose papers in an old town chest. The original I have in my possession. It was evidently written by one of the select men:

"1839. Town of Farmington to Henry Wilson, Esq. $2.25 for 23 days labor done on the Road Oct. 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1839."

"Received payment of the selectmen of said town in full for the above labor done on the Road Oct. 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1839."

"On the back of the bill some minutes show that his tax (probably his poll tax) was one dollar and twenty-five cents, and that he received the balance of fifty-eight cents in money."

About Hisecock.

John Hisecock, an old style of job printing can be obtained at the Daily News office at a low price as in New York or Boston. The job-printer is stocked with more than three hundred styles of type, some of the fonts entirely new, and the work is warranted equal to the best.

CLOSING THE STREET.—Thames Street, from Fair to Ann streets will be closed for a short time, in consequence of the dangerous illness of a person in that street.

THE CHURCHES.—This school will not be opened until Monday next (11th inst.).

GETTING READY.—The Barnstable Guards, Capt. Buchanan, Newport Light Infantry and the Aquidneck Rifles have been out this week, getting ready for election.

ANOTHER CURE.—As will be seen by the advertisement, Lewis' celebrated cures is to be in Newport again.

PROGRESS OF THE HIGH SCHOOL.—Mr. W. T. Reid the newly elected principal of the High School has arrived in this city and entered upon the discharge of his duties.

AN EXCELLENT PARTY.—A special sale of fine goods will be held to-day at Aquidneck Hall including four finely decorated china dinner services. Several French marble and ornate clocks and three powerful opera glasses. Sale practical at 2 1-2 and 7 1-2 P. M.

Deaths.

The Rev. Gen. M. Handley has been appointed to the charge of the Marlboro' street Methodist Episcopal church and is expected to enter upon the discharge of his duties at once. He was formerly pastor of the Powers street church in Providence, but has been for the past year at Providence Mass.

There will be baptisms to-morrow, at the close of morning service, by Rev. Mr. Malcom, at the usual place.

Rev. R. H. Drake, of St. John's Church, Providence, will officiate in Emmanuel Church to-morrow at 10 o'clock A. M. and 7 o'clock P. M.

Zion Church.—The Rev. Francis Gilliat will officiate in Zion Church, to-morrow morning. Service at half-past 10 o'clock. Evening service at 7 o'clock.

Rev. C. H. Malcom of the Second Baptist Church in this city is to give an address at the anniversary of the American Congregational Union in New York next week. The other speakers are Henry Ward Beecher, Dr. John Hall, Dr. Stone, and Dr. Tyng.

The Reverend Mr. Lincoln, of the Central Baptist Church, Providence, has resigned his charge, in order that he may accept the Professorship of Church History, in Newton Theological Institution, to which he has been elected by the trustees. He will enter upon his new duties at the beginning of the next academic year, September next.

INTER-COMMUNION.—An interesting service is to be held to-morrow afternoon at Plymouth Church (Henry Ward Beecher), in which a large number of representatives from different denominations are to unite in a union communion service. Rev. Mr. Malcom, of this city, has received a letter urging him to represent the Baptists on that occasion, and participate in the celebration of the service. Rev. D. R. Brewer will represent the Episcopal Church.

THE RELIGION OF MR. DISRAELI.—The London Jewish Chronicle, a very high authority among the people whose views in advocates, has the following remarks in reference to the new Premier and Judaism: "There seems, indeed, to be a singular mistake as to the religion of Mr. Disraeli to Judaism. Some Jews revere him as an apostate, and urge his apostasy as an instance of tergiversation. Some Christians scoff at him as a Jew, with a singular disregard of all they owe to the Hebrew race. Now, the fact is that, in plain English, Disraeli is neither an apostate nor a Jew. He was born of Hebrew parents. His father, Isaac Disraeli, the author, and his mother, a sister of the Marquis, were members of Sephardian Jewish families. His grandfather and grandmother, indeed, rest in the Portuguese cemetery at Mile-end. Benjamin Disraeli was educated into the communion of Israel, but his father, thinking it to be better for his synagogue, failed to teach his child Judaism. One day Rogers, the banker poet, happened to visit at Isaac Disraeli's house at Ruckery, when Benjamin was about five or six years old, and regretting to find so intelligent a youth without religion, took him to Hackney Church. From this event dates his absolute and complete severance from the Jewish communion. He became a Christian, and a great genius was lost to us."

PORTSMOUTH.—At a meeting of 1st and 2nd London No. 27, I. O. of O. T., held at South Portsmouth on the 7th inst., the following officers were duly installed for the present year:

W. C. T.—George J. Potter, re-elected.
W. V. T.—Edw. F. Miller, re-elected.
W. C.—Rev. Wm. Miller, re-elected.
W. S.—C. D. Allen, re-elected.
W. S.—C. D. Allen, re-elected.
W. F. S.—Mary A. W. Buford.
W. F. S.—Respectful P. Manchester.
W. T.—John H. Davis.
W. M.—Parker H. Sherman, re-elected.
W. D. M.—Anne S. Gray, re-elected.
W. L. G.—Miss Jane E. Field.
W. S.—Violet T. Potter.
W. R. H. S.—Lizzie L. Potter, re-elected.
W. L. H. S.—Lizzie L. Potter, re-elected.
Interesting remarks were then made by George L. Potter and Rev. Wm. Miller, of Island Lodge, and Dr. Benjamin Green, of Union Lodge No. 30, of Portsmouth.

There were also present several visitors from Union Lodge.

The World at Home is becoming one of the leading Magazines of the country. Each number contains one hundred pages of reading matter, and the wonderful how such a work can be issued for $3.00 a year. It is published by Evans & Co., of Philadelphia.

New Items.

Among the Vice Presidents of a Democratic Club at McPhersonville, Ga., are two colored men.

The orange crops of Florida will be immense this season.

Twenty six thousand cases, or one million five hundred and sixty thousand pairs of shoes were shipped from Lynn during the month of April, the value of which could not have been much short of two millions of dollars.

It is the English fashion for bride's parents to give a party on the evening preceding the wedding presents.

Brooklyn, N. Y., is a city of 100,000 inhabitants, yet how small a place it occupies in the world's eye in being overshadowed by New York.

The Canadian House of Commons have refused to reduce the Governor General's salary to $75,000 a year.

There are 15,000 real estate brokers in New York city, and one third of the number own more than the house which they occupy, while the remainder have property to let. The proportion of property owners to the rest of the population is about one and a half per cent, or 10 to 1000.

The other day a New York thief stole a bag containing $500 worth of securities belonging to a clergyman of that city. Queen property to publish.

Not long ago three children of a member of the Iowa Assembly were brought to death in the destruction of his house. Before this calamity his wife had died suddenly, one of his sons had been drowned, and another was killed by a runaway team.

Commodore Van Fleet sailed for Europe on Wednesday.

James C. Blaine, Representative in Congress of the Third District in Maine, was yesterday renominated.

An intoxicated man in New York, yesterday, broke a pane of French plate glass worth $200, in Stewart's dry goods store.

Senator Wilson is to preside at the annual reunion of the American Congregational Union in Brooklyn, next week.

Brooklyn, N. Y., is reported to be growing faster than any other city in the United States. Fifty years ago its population was 4,100, and at the present time it is estimated at nearly 500,000.

The grapple, which was so seriously injured at the burning of Barnum's Museum in New York, died on Monday afternoon in Bridgeport, Conn., where it was on exhibition with Van Amburgh's menagerie.

The Hartford Convention says that business at Gold's is looking up, and work is progressing satisfactorily on the Boston order for 20,000 Heron rifles. About four hundred workmen are now employed in the armory.

A very strange case is reported in Delaware county, Penn. An old woman, named Bradwell, was found the other night with her face badly bruised and shoulder bone broken. She asserts that three men entered her house the other night, took her to the bed where she was lying with her husband, and threw her out of the second story window. The husband did not wake up, and knew nothing of it until some time afterward.

A DARING MENACE.—A telegraphic dispatch dated the 8th inst. says, early last evening hearing a knock at a back door of their house in Hampton Falls, Mrs. Brown, wife of Mr. Thomas Brown, went to the door, and on opening it, was knocked in the head, and after falling was struck several times by an ax and left senseless where she fell. The parties then went to a bedroom where Mr. Brown was and attacked him in his bed.

They then took the keys and went to a bureau in an adjoining room, where they found about seven hundred dollars. They left. "The discovery of the assault and robbery was made about five o'clock this morning. Mrs. Brown being found just as the villain left her, with her skull terribly crushed, and Mr. Brown with his head broken in and otherwise injured. Mrs. Brown has continued unconscious ever since. Mr. Brown has had moments of consciousness and gave an account of the affair, which led city Marshal Pitts of Newburyport to arrest Joseph Pike of this city and a search of his person furnished positive proof that he is one of the guilty parties. He has been carried to Hampton Falls to be confronted with Mr. Brown.

Pike refused to disclose who his confederates are. Mr. and Mrs. Brown are an aged couple living alone. At noon there was no hope of the recovery of either.

DEATH OF COL. A. G. HAZARD.—Col. A. G. Hazard, of Enfield, Conn., the great powder manufacturer of the country, died at New York on Thursday, after an illness of two months. He was a native of Rhode Island, and twenty-five years ago, commenced the powder business in Enfield, England. The Mexican and European wars, the constantly increasing demand for powder in public works and internal improvements, the war of rebellion, had graduated him into a large business, and at the time of his death he was the largest powder manufacturer in the world, and owned store houses in nearly every State and territory in the country. He was a man of great wealth and generosity, and was prominent in giving encouragement to all worthy enterprises. While Daniel Webster lived, Col. Hazard was one of his most valued friends, and a few years ago he was the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Connecticut. He was sixty-seven years old, and leaves a widow and three daughters, one of them the wife of Governor Bullock.

MARRIED.
In this city, 7th inst., by Rev. E. P. White, Pastor of the Baptist Church, Rev. J. C. Chase, of Newport, and Miss Sarah Elizabeth L. Chase, of East Greenwich, Vermont.

In this city, 7th inst., by Rev. Charles H. Malcom, of the Baptist Church, Rev. J. C. Chase, of Newport, and Miss Sarah Elizabeth L. Chase, of East Greenwich, Vermont.

STORY OF A THIEF.—What horror does the thought of a thief inspire in the mind of a law-abiding citizen? A man who has been a thief for many years, and who has been in the habit of stealing from his neighbors, has been caught in the act of stealing from a neighbor, and is now in the hands of the law.

NO LOSS CAN BE MORE FATAL TO REALTY.—REALTY is the foundation of the nation, and the loss of it would be the loss of the nation. It is the basis of all wealth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wealth. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss of it would be the loss of all knowledge. It is the basis of all power, and the loss of it would be the loss of all power. It is the basis of all glory, and the loss of it would be the loss of all glory. It is the basis of all honor, and the loss of it would be the loss of all honor. It is the basis of all life, and the loss of it would be the loss of all life. It is the basis of all hope, and the loss of it would be the loss of all hope. It is the basis of all love, and the loss of it would be the loss of all love. It is the basis of all faith, and the loss of it would be the loss of all faith. It is the basis of all charity, and the loss of it would be the loss of all charity. It is the basis of all justice, and the loss of it would be the loss of all justice. It is the basis of all truth, and the loss of it would be the loss of all truth. It is the basis of all goodness, and the loss of it would be the loss of all goodness. It is the basis of all beauty, and the loss of it would be the loss of all beauty. It is the basis of all wisdom, and the loss of it would be the loss of all wisdom. It is the basis of all knowledge, and the loss

